

Sinclair's airing of Stolen Honor is a disservice to the American public and our values of fairness and equality.

We count on the FCC, as public servants, to serve all the public. A company using public airwaves for free has no business airing such propaganda for one political side without at least providing the other side with an opportunity to express its point of view.